Do you need a power bank if you're camping off-grid?

Heading out for a day trip or camping off-grid is a great way to reconnect with nature - but there's always the chance you'll need a device for navigation, checking nearby amenities or keeping in touch with the rest of your group. Luckily, a power bank can help you keep your devices topped up for just such occasions.

Which power bank is best for camping?

SQUIRREL_13077877 If you're planning an extended trip, Anker's PowerCore 337 is one of the best power banks for camping, thanks to its huge 26,800mAh capacity. According to the makers, it can top up your phone more than six times, or recharge tablets at least twice - about enough to last you a week.

How to choose a portable power station for camping?

For camping, you'll want a portable power station that doesn't add too much weight to your gear. If you are spending a long time in the great outdoors, you should prioritize the capacity so your devices can last the trip. If you are doing a shorter trip or a day hike, you will want to consider the size and packability factor of the power bank.

What do car campers use their power bank for?

The vast majority of car campers are using their power bank for just one thing: keeping that phone charged. And even though you're off the grid (at least we hope), free from the YouTube autoplay and Facebook algorithm, you'll probably still need to use your phone for at least a couple of things. Photos. Alarm clock. Offline maps.

What makes a good power bank?

A durable power bank is essential for outdoor activities. Look out for power banks with additional features like water resistance, shockproof casing, and sturdy construction to withstand the rigors of camping. Some power banks, such as the Jackery, have the option to be charged via solar panels.
